

SAHM®-Ferrules

We have more than five decades of knowledge and experience in techniques for the mechanical splicing of wire ropes; therefore we are able to offer an extensive range of ferrules for rope terminations.

Safety is a major focus, with this in mind our ferrules are strictly produced from seamless materials.

A wide range of materials allows specific splicing applications, with our extensive knowledge and flexibility we can support customers to find solutions for any specialised project. We can even offer packing to customer's specifications.

Beyond lifting we can support you to find the right solution for your application, with ferrules produced to meet your requirements.
